DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 17-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
4. Claims 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cinbis et al. (U.S. Pat. 5,897,577 hereinafter "Cinbis") in view of Juran et al. (U.S. Pat. 6,016,447 hereinafter "Juran").

Art Unit: 3762

5. Regarding claims 17-18, Cinbis discloses a pacing lead impedance monitoring circuit for use in an implantable medical device designed to collect lead impedance data (Col. 5, 56-65), stimulation threshold data (Col. 2, ll. 21-32), and other data that may be non-physiological data (Col. 8, ll. 8-16). Cinbis further discloses that once it is determined that the leads are no longer functional a signal is created to indicate the status (Col. 9, ll. 5-9), but Cinbis does not disclose a time from implant source.

However, Juran discloses a pacemaker that includes a time from implant source and states that the device may use the implant time to trigger various therapy programs automatically. (Col. 4, ll. 41-49 & Col. 5, ll. 50-54). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made have modified the lead status monitoring system as taught by Cinbis with the time from implant source as disclosed by Juran in order to keep track of the time since implant to determine time decay and to base and automatically adjust the pacing based on pre-measured decay.

6. Claims 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cinbis in view of Juran as applied to claims 17-18 above, and further in view of Dutcher et al. (U.S. Pat. 4,140,131 hereinafter "Dutcher").

7. Regarding claims 19-21, Cinbis in view of Juran discloses the lead status monitoring system as discussed in detail above, but does not explicitly disclose that finds a biological interface issue, explicitly a myocardial perforation. However, Dutcher discloses a stimulation-warning device where impedance level detectors determine the possibility of lead rupture (Col. 6, ll. 14-22; Fig. 1A, 18). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified he lead status monitoring system as taught by Cinbis in view of Juran with the rupture detection system as taught by Dutcher in order to determine lead failure by determining the proper placement of the leads before application of the stimulation.

8. It is noted that Cinbis in view of Juran and further in view of Dutcher do not explicitly state that they assign weighted values to the collected data, Dutcher inherently assigns a value to determine if a lead status event has occurred, otherwise the monitoring system would either always detect a event or never detect an event.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
